Make Being Present the Gift this Holiday
By Paul Jaras AIFD, CFD

Christmas. Love it or hate it, it’s a huge part of life as a florist. It consumes a lot of our attention for many months. Anticipation has been building, probably since early in the year when we chose the merchandise to buy and that we now hope to sell. No doubt the merchandise, in all its splendor, has been painstakingly displayed, open houses have been planned and all is ready for a successful sales season - the biggest of the year. There are so many things to be considered and indeed it’s one of our more stressful times.

What if you could reduce the stress and ‘enjoy’ this time a little more. What can you as a business owner or employee of a retail shop do to make the experience of the season better, easier, or just generally more pleasant for everyone? In the age of doing more and more and doing it faster and faster, having time to be present and to enjoy the journey is something we all need.

Make it easy for your clients to see what you have to offer. Social media is the way of the world and a good one to do just that. Produce high quality images to use across platforms. Show what you want to sell. Create something unique to your business. Use the accessories and merchandise you have in the shop in your fresh designs and also think about using interesting product on-hand to style the photos. Your clients are waiting to see what you have this year and if they see it, the sales will follow.

Make it easy to produce the arrangements you sell. Having all materials that are needed at hand may mean one last check of workroom inventory now to avoid the stress of last-minute calls to suppliers later. Confirm the availability of fresh materials that have been ordered and make substitutions if necessary.

We know it’s going to be ‘crazy’ with demands that sometimes seem beyond our capacity, but it always, somehow, gets done. Bringing meals in when work goes into the evening and having snacks on hand for breaks are surely appreciated by team members. Years ago in a shop where I worked we were asked to write down something funny or something we admired in a coworker and would occasionally each pull the note out of the Christmas stocking and read it. It was kind of like a fortune cookie message - something that could bring the mood up from time to time. We also received a certificate for a massage to be used after the rush - but it could be as simple as a $5 gift card to a favorite coffee shop.

Take some time to make the season and the responsibilities of your business less of a burden and reduce your own stress, too. Mindfulness and meditation allows one to be in the moment and can take the focus off the stress. Balance is key. Plan something special or revive an old tradition - a light at the end of the tunnel. It is the time of age-old traditions and being with those who mean the most in our life. Make simply being present the gift to be enjoyed by all.

President’s Message

"Being a member of AIFD is being a member of family that cares for each other."

The generous spirit of Thanksgiving - gratitude, appreciation and thankfulness is what we have witnessed in the last months. Our members were in need and you answered. Being a member of AIFD is more than just being a member of a professional association - it is being a member of family that cares for each other. What I witnessed was the amazing gift of generosity, encouragement and support. Support that came in many ways - all I can say is thank you - thank you for caring for each other.

Engage, Educate and Enlighten - these are the words that continue to keep me grounded and on task. As I go through this year they are the forefront of my actions.

In August your Executive Board and Symposium Committee met in D.C. Jackie Lacey AIFD, CFD led the Symposium Committee meeting where Cindy Anderson AIFD, CFD and Wil Gonzalez AIFD, CFD were able to give their final input on the outcome of Symposium "X" - which we all know was a success. Suzie Kostick AIFD, CFD and John Kittinger AIFD, CFD were able to "walk" the facility one more time and finalize some of the plans in the works for "Discover" 2018. Joyce Mason-Monheim AIFD, CFD and Brian Vetter AIFD, CFD shared some of their plans with the Committee for Las Vegas 2019! It is obvious that Symposium continues to be a labor of love - we are all volunteers, we share the load and we all reap the benefits that this remarkable education offers.

The Executive Board meeting reviewed the PFDE and CFD 2017 results submitted by Membership Chairperson, Sandy Schroek AIFD, CFD. We are thrilled with the success of our candidates and look forward to inducting over 90 new members in Washington, D.C. The Executive Board made several recommendations that we will bring to the National Board in October.

As this year progresses I look forward to visiting each region, starting with a visit to British Columbia for the United Flora Gala featuring Tim Farrell AIFD, CFD, Paul Jaras AIFD, CFD and Scott Hasty AIFD, CFD along with Per Benjamin. AIFD will be well represented as we have many Northwest members volunteering in the preparation.

Next it will be to Indianapolis to work beside the North Central Chapter contingency as they support the National FFA Convention in October with judging evaluations and sharing AIFD as a career path within the floral industry.

As we prepare for our autumn and holiday seasons I would encourage each of us to remember our mission and be thankful for the vocation that we have chosen. "The mission of AIFD is to advance the art of professional floral design through education, service, and leadership; and to recognize the achievement of excellence in this art form.”

We are a volunteer organization and we need you ... be involved ... stay involved!

Remember Education, Service and Leadership in order to Engage, Educate and Enlighten!

I am thankful! Happy Fall!

Florists in 44 States Plan to ‘Petal It Forward’ on Oct. 11

By Jenny Scala at SAF

At press time, florists in 44 states in 147 cities and Canada had told the Society of American Florists of plans to hold Petal It Forward events in their communities on Oct. 11. That leaves six states to go — Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Nevada, North Dakota, and West Virginia— for industry participation in all 50 states.

"Participation in every state and in as many cities as possible within each state is vital to the success of Petal It Forward from a public relations standpoint," said the Society of American Florists Vice President of Marketing Jennifer Sparks. "The more florists participating on October 11, the better chance of news coverage and social media posts promoting flower power," she explained. “We need to know where local events are happening so we can tell the media, and so you can tell your local media that you are part of an effort happening nationwide.”

Don’t have the time or resources to plan a large effort? That’s okay, said Sparks. “Even handing out 20-50 bouquets or single stems can make an impact, and it’s a nice way to get your feet wet in participating in this nationwide event,” she added.

SAF provides resources to help members Petal It Forward, including planning timelines, tips on where and when to stage a giveaway, talking points, T-shirt and flower card templates and more at safnow.org/petalitforward.

SAF first led the industry to Petal It Forward in 2015. The 2016 campaign included 262 events in 234 cities in all 50 states plus the District of Columbia, generating more 328 million consumer impressions showcasing the positive impact flowers have on emotional well-being.

Floral Industry Reacts to Hurricanes

By Mary Westbrook, Society of American Florists (SAF) originally printed Sept. 13, 2017

Floral industry members from South Florida to South Carolina have checked in with the Society of American Florists and EBrief editors, sharing stories of frustration, product loss and facility damage, power outages, flooding, disrupted supply chains — and also, big sighs of relief.

“We are recovering,” said Christine Boldt, executive vice president of the Association of Floral Importers of Florida. “It could have been a lot worse.” As of Tuesday, Boldt added, “Flights are arriving at the airport, the importers are open for business and the truck lines are starting today to haul flowers again.”

Meanwhile, fundraising efforts are ongoing for victims of Hurricane Harvey. “Texas State Florists’ Association and the AIFD Foundation continue to receive donations for the Hurricane Harvey Florist Fund,” said Dianna Nordman, AAF, executive director of TSFA.

Back to Work After Irma

Recovery work - for industry members both in Florida and Texas - is in its early stages, and the damage for some this week has been significant. Hurricane Irma is responsible for at least 15 deaths in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, according to official estimates. Overall, the storm took 47 lives in the Caribbean and the U.S.

Industry members across segments said returning to normal will take time.

Corey Doel of Prime Floral LLC, headquartered in Springfield, Missouri, said the transportation company was busy managing the aftermath of Hurricane Irma, “but we are glad to report that our facilities [in Miami] sustained no major damage, and we are resuming our normal shipping schedules on Wednesday, September 13.”

Other companies, including Armellini Express Lines and Florida Beauty, also have returned or plan to return soon to shipping schedules. As David Armellini noted, however, trucking companies are dependent on flights coming into Miami International, which only recently re-opened. “We’re back to normal as of today, or at least, as normal as we can be right now,” said Armellini, president of Armellini Industries Inc. in Palm City, Florida. The company is working closely with employees who have themselves been affected by the storm.

“Recovery and repair began today with our FernTrust ferneries,” Corey said Tuesday. “We are trying to juggle available labor between harvesting and repair.

We still have staff that has not been able to return home from evacuation and fuel is still not available in our area which definitively complicates things.”

Wholesalers also are taking stock.

“Companies are now getting back into the buildings slowly and people are somewhat getting back to work,” said Steve Catando, purchasing manager at DV Flora, on Tuesday. “Inbound flights will resume soon with some charters. It’s still going to be a slow road to meet demand because we need people and labor to process, handle, and clear our shipments. I see good things happening but it’s slow progress.”

According to Joe Barnes, Kennicott/Nordlie issued the following update in part to its customers: “Our partners in the industry are working hard to get back online as quickly as possible. The Miami airport is starting operations and we are working towards flowers and flights resuming soon. Our staff is doing everything we can to fulfill and answer questions about upcoming orders. Power lines are down. Trees and flooded roads are in the way of our suppliers assessing the damages. Greens and plant suppliers are facing rebuilding again after Irma and Matthew have damaged many areas. We will continue to push for getting product moving as quickly as possible.”

Other updates from SAF members:

Disappointment in Miami Beach

Chaim Casper of Surf Florist Inc. in Miami Beach lost power at both of his shops early Sunday morning—but customers seemed to stop calling far before that. (“My phone hasn’t rung since last Wednesday, September 6,” he explained.) As of Tuesday, Casper was relying on his cell phone to communicate and worried about finding an open gas station.

“My suppliers have all told me not to expect any flowers until Thursday at the earliest,” he said. “Next week is Rosh Hashannah, the Jewish New Year, which is my third busiest day of the year. A lot of people flew up north to avoid [the hurricane]. I suspect they will stay up north and spend the holiday with family there and not return until after the holiday. I am predicting at least a 20 percent drop, if not more, in sales over last year [for the holiday].”

Based on his experiences with Hurricane Andrew, in 1992, and Wilma, in 2005, Casper is bracing for a prolonged period without power.

AIFD Foundation Establishes Hurricane Relief Funds

Availability: October through May

Vase Life: 4 to 8 days

Design Notes: Anemones are heavy drinkers. It is preferable to use them in a vase arrangement as opposed to designing in floral foam.

Happy Fall! We’re off and running at full speed!

I just returned from Bloomfield Hills, Michigan where our successful event, Art in the Elements, took place. Laura Daluga AIFD, CFD coordinated this project with the Cranbrook House and Gardens staff. Ten designers created unique displays on the Cranbrook campus. The featured artists were; Lisa Beslisle AIFD, CFD, Debbie Strand AIFD, CFD, Debi Dawson AIFD, CFD, Carolyn Kurek AIFD, CFD, Sheryl Timmermann AIFD, CFD, Laura Daluga AIFD, CFD, Brent Leech AIFD, CFD, Stacey Carlton AIFD, CFD, Trisha Haisler AIFD, CFD, and friends of North Central, Garrett Skupinski CFD. Cathy Brunk AIF, CFD and Deb Swarze AIFD, CFD created beautiful designs for the opening cocktail party as well as boutonnieres and corsages for all 72 of the guests. Over 650 people attended the two day event.

Many of us will be traveling to Indianapolis on October 25 and 26 to judge and assist with the FFA conference. If you have the opportunity to attend, please do. It’s a very rewarding experience!

Plans are underway for our midyear meeting on January 19 and 20 at Oasis in Kent, Ohio. Kelly Mace and I are currently working out the details and will have more information out to everyone soon. Please mark your calendars! Tours of the facility will be on Friday, chapter meeting and dinner Friday evening and design program on Saturday. My goal is to have 100 attendees! Come on North Central, don’t let me down!

I hope you all take a moment to enjoy the fall season. We’re all busy with fall weddings, homecomings and festivals, but this really is a beautiful time of the year.

President’s Letter
Ken Senter AIFD, CFD
As the fall and Christmas season approaches, I hope you’re making plans to decorate your shops with all the wonderful textural elements and products available. Also, make sure to review your Christmas greens order from the past few years and place your order with your local wholesaler early. I wish everyone a great holiday season.

The theme of Kim Oldis AIFD, CFD, our National president, is Engage, Educate and Enlighten. With that in mind, I challenge each member to reach out to a fellow designer and ENGAGE and ENLIGHTEN them in the conversation of AIFD. I also would strongly urge any member that is in the general vicinity of The University of Missouri or Texas A&M University to reach out and offer your services to speak to the SAIFD Chapters. You can contact Lesleighan Cravens, CFD, the instructor at University of Missouri or Bill McKinley AIFD, CFD, the instructor at Texas A&M University. Helping to EDUCATE these young designers is part of our mission of being an AIFD member.

Congratulations to Alison Hopson AIFD, CFD for winning the Mid America’s design competition that was held during the Arkansas State Convention.

Congratulations to our regions own Suzie Kostick AIFD, CFD for being selected to co-chair with John Kittinger AIFD, CFD this year’s National Symposium in Washington, D.C. "Discover" 2018 will take place June 30 to July 4. It will be held at the Marriott Wardman. Start making plans to attend, as this Symposium will be unforgettable.

I am also excited to share that our spring fundraiser will be March 24 and 25 at Baisch and Skinner Wholesale in St. Louis. Co-chairs Rhonda Lynn-Moeckel AIFD, CFD and Damon Samuel AIFD, CFD are putting together an incredible weekend. It will include hands on workshops, a design competition, and a fabulous program on Sunday by Deborah De la Flor AIFD, CFD. Please make plans to help support your region. If you are interested in volunteering please contact Rhonda or Damon.

If you are interested in serving on the board of South Central AIFD, please contact Shane Cranford AIFD, CFD.

President’s Letter
Erik Witcraft AIFD, CFD
Happy fall from the Northwest region! This year has brought us many incredible Xperiences, but has brought us many challenges as well. From the Northwest region, I first would like to reach out to our Texas and Florida friends with a huge hug of support from our region. One of the very best things about AIFD, I believe, is the high level of support and friendship among our fellow floral artists, and at times like these, as artists are rebuilding and reshaping their worlds, we must reach out and support. Although it has been a bit since Harvey and Irma hit, we still need to help support our fellow friends. Thank you to the AIFD Foundation for their proactive action for support during this disastrous time for our Southern friends. We are all thinking of you all and helping where we can!

Our chapter is busy with lots of great programs and awareness events. In September, our Canadian friends setup an awareness booth at UFI Burnaby for their Gala event. Louisa Lam AIFD, CFD, and several other AIFD members were on scene to help with promoting AIFD for our region.

Coming up in a couple weeks, the Montana State Florist Association Convention will be held in Bozeman, Montana. With the help of Linda Marshall Robbins AIFD, CFD and Lindsey Petersen AIFD, CFD, we will be representing our chapter with an awareness booth, as well as hosting the design contest. There is also a great hands-on program about creative armatures for everyday and bridal, presented by Ian Whipple AIFD, CFD.

Moving into November, our kickoff begins just in time for the beauty of the bountiful season. As days get shorter and nights get cooler, we celebrate the Ninth Moon, November 3-5. Every year in Portland, the Lan Su Chinese Garden hosts an event spotlighting the beautiful Chrysanthemum. It’s called Mumvember. During this event, designers are invited to compete in a juried design showcase featuring the fabulous chrysanthemums while demonstrating masterful artistic abilities. Among several NW AIFD chapter designs participating this year, the garden is also highlighting a very special member of our chapter as the featured designer for the event. Brenna Quan AIFD, CFD will be demonstrating to the public in an evening premiere night, as well as thought out the weekend! We are so thrilled to have Brenna representing our region in Portland this year!

Moving into the holidays, our region would love to reflect on how incredibly grateful we are. We have 13 fabulous new inductees in our region. We ask any and all to reach out to our seasoned members, we would love to get you involved! Send me a note, give me a call, we are greater with you involved! We have a passionate board moving in a positive and exciting direction, we have the support of our adopted NW National President Kim Oldis AIFD, CFD and look forward to what 2018 brings for our region! We truly believe that it’s going to be a monumental year for our region!

Southwest Chapter Report

President’s Letter
Susan Ayala AIFD, CFD
Happy Fall everyone! As the rest of the regions are in the swing of their beautiful fall leaves, we in the Southwest are still consumed with the heat. Speaking of the heat, we are heating up with a few events. This September is the Los Angeles County Fair and under the guidance of Jim Hynd AIFD, CFD and Jim Blythe AIFD, CFD the flower pavilion is a wonder with the theme of “Under the Looking Glass.” With a crew of designers along with Katie McCormick AIFD, CFD and Cindy Pham AIFD, CFD have designed the spectacular designs throughout the pavilion. This year we have Pam Null AIFD, CFD, Brad Austin AIFD, CFD, and Jan Wilder AIFD, CFD partaking in the designs for the Southwest Region’s section. Thank you for being there as I’m in China for the fall.

Next month on October 29 the region will be holding our annual fall workshop. This year we will have Tom Simmons AIFD, CFD and back by popular demand, new Inductee Brad Austin AIFD, CFD will conduct the workshop at Mellano & Co. in Santa Ana. Thank you Cathy Hickman-Frost AIFD, CFD for holding the workshop at Mellano’s this year. Please save the date and spread the word to all designers that are looking for outstanding instructors who will inspire you or them on party designs. Look for more information on Design in Line, Facebook, and Instagram. Thank you Katie McCormick AIFD, CFD and Shonda Cunningham AIFD, CFD for the work you have done while I’m away.

As we move into the holiday season please think of the designer and flower shops that were affected by the hurricanes. The AIFD Foundation is taking donations and giving 100% to the florists that have been hit.

Have a wonderful and prosperous Holiday Season

North East Chapter

President’s Letter
Dan Firth AIFD, CFD
The North East has a vibrant chapter and I am looking forward to serving you as President in the upcoming year. This year has been a very big learning curve for me and I want to thank Polly Berginc AIFD, CFD,
Looking forward to this year, my primary goal for the year is education. I believe that we can’t be stagnant as individuals or as an organization. There is so much to learn and share with each other. I would like to get as many members as possible involved. Although we are planning some bigger programs, please let me, or a board member near you, know if you would like to head a show in your area. Not everyone is able to attend Symposium every year and local hands-on workshops are a great way to share your talents and give back to the floral family. Last year, Lori Lemek AIFD, CFD held a prom workshop. Two of my employees attended and came back so enthused and full of ideas. Don’t underrate your abilities to share your talents!

Our fall show is slated for October 10, in Harrisburg, Pa. I am chairing the event which is sponsored by Zeiger and Sons Wholesalers. Vince Butera AIFD, CFD will be the commentator.

An exciting lineup of designers includes Polly Berginc AIFD, CFD, Renee Tuci AIFD, CFD, Darcie Garcia AIFD, CFD, Shannon Toal AIFD, CFD, Rebecca Carter AIFD, CFD, Alisha Simone-Bell AIFD, CFD, Marianne Suess AIFD, CFD, Bunnie Hovan AIFD, CFD, Jennifer Plasky AIFD, CFD and Christy King AIFD, CFD. Ron Mulray AIFD, CFD will continue to represent us on the National Board and Polly Berginc AIFD, CFD will be our foundation representative. We are fortunate to have such a talented and enthusiastic group of individuals leading our organization. Remember, we are all here to serve you, so please give us feedback, and let us know your ideas and better ways that we can serve you and our chapter.

We also inducted six new AIFD members and three CFD’s at the Seattle Symposium. Congratulations to Sun Ja Park AIFD, CFD, Caroline Crabb AIFD, CFD, Kathryn Delve AIFD, CFD, Amanda Randall AIFD, CFD, Mieko Kawazoe AIFD, CFD, Lori Kunian AIFD, CFD, Shawn Brown CFD, Elizabeth Kim CFD and Yong Hee Petrik CFD. We look forward to you being a part of our NERC family! Even as a new member, please don’t hesitate to get involved in NERC. We value every one of our members.

Several of our NERC members were recognized with awards at Symposium. Tim Farrell AIFD, CFD, PFCI was recognized by the AIFD National Board of Directors with the Award of Distinguished Service to the Floral Industry. This award is presented to AIFD members who have made a significant contribution to the floral industry.

Jiseon (Jessie) Yun, our Memorial Scholarship winner from our SAIFD chapter at Seneca College in Toronto, Canada, was the first place winner of the Interpretive Design and the third place winner of the Sympathy category in the student design competition in Seattle. Kudos to Marianne Suess AIFD, CFD for doing a great job with this chapter!

Finally, congratulations to the newest members from the Northeast who will be inducted in 2018: Nancy Bartlett CFD, Sujin Jung CFD, Marta Sondej CFD, Jorge Uribe CFD and Daisy Vincenty CFD.

Looking forward to spring, we will be again be working with the AIFD exhibit exploring “The Wonderful World of Water” at the Philadelphia Flower Show March 3-11, 2018. Anyone interested in helping with the show should contact Suzanne Sampson AIFD, CFD at plaistowvf@aol.com. More information will follow.

Tomas de Bruyne Wows at Longwood
By Matthew Ross, Continuing Education Coordinator at Longwood Gardens

Internationally famed floral designer Tomas de Bruyne delighted guests at Longwood Gardens in Kennett Square, Pa., with an exciting floral demonstration and workshops. He kicked off his visit with a magnificent demonstration that culminated in the transformation of Longwood’s grand Ballroom into a floral fashion runway. Highlighting the latest European techniques, de Bruyne created elegant, culturally inspired wedding bouquets that were carried by models costumed in traditional Japanese, Indian, and western-influenced wedding dresses. Another model, wearing a new-age Italian inspired floral necklace looked stunning as she graced the runway adorned with orchids, bronze kalanchoe leaves, and other gorgeous blooms. Following the evening event, guests mingled with designers from across the country, including a strong showing of AIFD and CFD Floral Designers, as they enjoyed a delicious wine and cheese reception.

The following day, masters-level floral design students had the opportunity to try a new and exciting palette of plants under the guidance of de Bruyne, as he encouraged them to push themselves creatively with a strong sense of “tension” in design. Students used several unique seasonal foliage and flowers harvested from Longwood’s 1,083 acre public garden that included: fruiting vines of Malabar spinach (Basella alba), intriguing seed pods of the Red-stemmed Arrowhead (Sagittaria lancifolia), and powdery purple fruits of the Powdered thalia (Thalia dealbata). Alexander Farms also graciously supplied hundreds of stems of fragrant David Austin® garden roses, with their sweet summer aroma. De Bruyne completed his visit to Longwood by teaching two additional workshops focused on intricate mechanics, cutting-edge bouquets, and luscious floral combinations.

Longwood’s passion and pursuit of floral excellence was certainly showcased by Tomas, who left a lasting impression on the students and guests that had the privilege of watching his mastery on stage and in the classroom.

These events were part of the Continuing Education program at Longwood Gardens. The robust program offers nearly 175 courses and workshops throughout the year in subjects from Landscape and Floral Design to Culinary Arts. Registration information and 2018 course listings are available at longwoodgardens.org/enroll.

Education + Evaluation = CFD®!

“In July of 2016 AIFD unveiled a new opportunity for floral designers to become an AIFD Certified Floral Designer (CFD). Floral designers can attend and successfully complete the appropriate floral design education programs at an AIFD Education Partner, Approved State Floral Association or SAIFD Chapter, then pass AIFD’s online test, and become an AIFD Certified Floral Designer! Since then, over 75 floral designers have become CFD’s through this method. Congratulations to the newest class of CFDs as of September 18, 2017

A night of networking, inspiration and education!

Our panel of designers will each take a turn showing you how to grow with green: from transitional designs for the season, to posh and sophisticated sympathy work, to the Pantone effect on our industry and how to make the best use of the on trend large-leaf movement. You won’t want to miss this fast-paced night of going green!

The Season of Thanksgiving
A TIME FOR GRATITUDE

In this season of Thanksgiving we express appreciation for gifts so graciously given. In AIFD, it is the volunteer spirit and the generosity in contribution for which we express gratitude. With each hour volunteered and each dollar contributed, AIFD and the AIFD Foundation progress. It was not that long ago that a few members of AIFD, after the loss of a dear friend, started what is known today as the AIFD Foundation. Always connected. Always working together. Always looking forward with great anticipation to the future. The future of AIFD and of the AIFD Foundation.

Visit aifdfoundation.org to donate to celebrate a season of Thanksgiving and a time for gratitude.
